HALF BILLION FOR PREPAREDNESS

Now Appears That This Will Be Cost of War Talk.

WILSON CHANGED OPINION.

Short Time Ago Any One Predicting That Big Sum Would Be Spent For Army and Navy Would Have Been Called Light Headed, Yet It Has Come About Because of European War.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 25.-[Special]-Before the beginning of the present session of congress any one predict bug that half a billion dollars would be spent for increases in military prepara tion would have been set down as light headed or, at least, a victorary And yet it appears from estimates of bills to pass and these already passed that $500,000,000 is the cost of the slarm which this country has felt on account of the fighting in Europe.

Men who talk about the immense sum, which is just a heatracher, as for same ratio, seem to really believe that the United States is in great danger. Not all of them, for quite a number have stood up in concress and denonneed the war scare as hysteria and asserted that the country has gone mad on the subject of military preparation.

Wilson's Influence Felt.

Much of the sentiment in the country and the acquiescence of congress has been due to the attitude of President Wilson. When he delivered his mes sage to congress in December, 1914. and said that the wer scare was absurd and that people were pervous and excited he stopped the effort toward military expansion Congress approprinted only the usual sums for the army and navy.

A year later when President Wilson took the other course and demanded ample war preparation, backing it up with a tour of the country in which he asserted there was great danger, he completely reversed the sentiment in his own party and compelled the great appropriations which have been made

Limiting Advertising.

The house of representatives has passed a bill limiting the amount of movey a candidate for the senate or house may spend for campaign pur poses. In this bill is a provision takfing off the limit for traveling, telegraphing, telephoning, postage, stationery, writing and printing other than in newspapers. It means that a candi date can spend any amount for all purposes except advertising and printing by newspapers.

Leaders in "Confabulation"

There had been a long discussion be were the majority and minority leaders over a proposition to have three day adjournments of the house. Final ly Couper of Wisconsin came in and wanted to know what was going on. "The gentleman from North Caro lina. Mr. Kitchin, and the gentleman from illinois, Mr. Mann, have been having a confabulation for some time." replied Speaker Clark.

"I would like to know what the gentleman from North Carolina said," remarked Cooper. "The Lord only knows," responded Kitchin; "we have been mixing it up." But out of such "mixing" and "con-fabulations" they finally got an agreement which allowed members to go home and look after political fences. Well Managed Bill.

LITTLE INTEREST IN THE CAMPAIGN

Contest Expected to Be Devoid of Bitter Denunciation.

DEMOCRATS ARE CONFIDENT

No Great Differences or Exciting Issues Between Parties-Voters Will Be Called Upon to Choose Between Two Personalities-Newspaper Advertising Called Best Kind of Campaigning.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 26.-[Special.]-Acrording to the Washington view, the presidential campaign is going to be a genteel affair without much excitement and little enthusiasm. Of course it is expected the contest will warm up a bit later in the season, but no one expects hard bitting, bitter denunciation and little of the spectacular such as has been enjoyed when Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Bryan were running, and one or both have been running for the past twenty years.

The confidence exhibited by the Democrats is something wonderful in view of the way they felt previous to the convention. Most of them were fearful that the nomination of Hughes would mean defeat. Now most of them confidently predict the re-election of

Lack of Exciting leaves

There are no interesting and excit ing issues to divide the parties. For the most part the parties have been in harmony. The Republicans have voted with the Democrats on most measures presented. When divisions have occurred they have not been along party lines. There have been no tight ly drawn party tatties in either house of congress. This lack of partisan ship in congress is no doubt a reflex of conditions throughout the country.

Under such conditions it is quite like. ly that the voters will feel that they are making a choice between two per sonalities, and the decision will be whether they prefer Wilson or Hughes The personality of the candidates is not such as to arouse any great amount of enthusiasm.

Best Kind of Campaigning.

Congressman Morgan of Oklahoma in opposing the provision in the elec-tions bill which allows all sorts of expenditures and excepts newspaper ad vertising said

"I would class newspaper advertising as the most appropriate and legitimate method of reaching the voters and, 1 think, the most effective. I believe to patronizing the editors. What a man says in the public press is open and aboveboard. The use of the press is a most honorable way to do campaign

Tributes to Democrats.

On at least half a dozen occasions during the time Woodrow Wilson has been president Minority Leader Mann has felt called upon to pay tribute to members of the house whom the prest deut has named for public office. He rather outdid bimself in banding out nice words to James Hay, named to be judge of the court of claims,

Useless Attempts.

Sooner or later men find that it is eless to attempt to effect reforms and savings when they will hit some particular state. When George von L. Meyer was secretary of the navy he tried to close down a number of navy yards, but they are all now receiving more money than ever before. Senator Weeks called attention to the many varies and stations in the United States and possessions and intimated that half as many would be sufficient, and he was called down quite promptly by senators who have yards in which their states are interested.

Friend of the Unfortunate.

The man with trouble should always go to Senator Martine. The New Jersey senator can always be found ready to take up the side of the under dog. "Jim Martine has a heart as big as an ox," remarked one of his fellow sen ators one day when Marline was trying to get something done for some body, "but his judgment is not good." For instance, not many people thought it wise to have the senate interfere in what was taking place in England regarding her own citizens.

Japa In the Gallery.

Senator Norris in opposing the large appropriations for military purposes said that when the army reorganiza tion bill was before the senate a man came to him and, pointing to the gal lery, said: "Do you see those Japanese up there in the gallery? There are three of them. When one goes out another comes in. They are listening to this debate on the military bill."

"He was really worked up about it." continued Norris, "although everybody could read what took place in the Rec ord. Out on the Pacific coast they drive children off the streets after dark by crying, "The Japs are coming!

REAL REFORMS RESULT

Farmer and Laborer Receive Bene-fits Instead of Empty Republi-can Phrases.

In his letter to the Progressive National Committee, largely devoted to a discussion of the support given by the German-American Alliance to Mr. Hughes and the reason for his own defeat, Colonel Roosevelt in-cluded the following characteristic statement:

It is folly to pay heed to any of the promises in the platform on which he (President Wilson) now stands, in view of the fact that almost every important promise on which he stood four years are has since been broken. years ago has since been broken.

The Democratic party, in its platform of 1912, promised tariff reform, and tariff reform is now a fact. It promised additional and more constructive laws for the regulation of corporations and the Clayton antitrust law is the result.

Direct Elections and Income Tax.

A rural credits system was prom-ised to the farmers of the country who had been promised such reform by the Republican party for twenty yars without fulfillment. As a result of the ascendency of the Democratic party to power, as a result of President Wilson's leadership, both branches of Congress have now passed a rural credits measure which eventually will enable tenant farmencumberance. The Democratic measure was passed almost unani-mously in both branches, the Repub-licans being obliged to give it their #### approval Agricultural Co-Opreation.

Another of the important planks in the Democratic platform was one advocating agricultural co-overation with the States. Such co-operation, with a new and modern marketing system, Federal aid in road building and other aids to the farmer, is now a reality.

Justice to labor and the conservation of the rights of labor were promised in the platform of 1912 and Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, has said that more was done for the la-toring people under the leadership of President Wilson and under the Democratic party than under any previous administration.

Conservation of the natural resources of the country was promised and there has been progressive con-servation, secompanied by sane de-velopment. No administration has ever had a more efficient operation of the laterior Department.

The spirit of the platform as well as its letter have been unheld. The Democratic party has gone even further. Giving the answer to his own characteristic statement, with his well known agility. Colonel Roosevelt in the same letter the Roosevelt in the same letter to the Progressive National Convention. Buys

The Progressive movement has been given an incalculable impe-tus by what the Progressive party has done. Our strongest party antagonists have accepted and enacted into law, or embodied in their party platforms. VERY MANY OF OUR MOST IMPORTANT PRINCIPLES. Much has been accomplished in awakening the public to a better understanding of the problems of social and industried welfare.

Reforms in People's Interest. No party in the history of the nation has ever written upon the stat-ute books a greater body of progressive and constructive laws. has given its approval to the laws written by the Democratic party to conserve the interests of labor. No greater advance has ever been made in the interest of the farmer since the Republic was founded, and the farmers themselves, more prosperous and more colightened than ever before, have given their endorsement to what has been done in their be-half.

Real reforms have been accomplished in the interest of all the peo-ple. There has never been a time when the reserves of the national banks of the country, representing the prosperity of the people, have been larger.

What has been done by President

But he has been as successful in his domestic accomplishments as he has been in his handling of foreign affairs and in upholding the honor and dignity of the nation.

No Domestic Issues

No Domestic Issues.

So complete has been the President's success in handling domestic problems that no domestic issue has been raised against him. In the absence of domestic issues, his opponents have tried to find an issue in the still delicate situation involving the peace and honor of the nation which the President, with a statesmanship in harmony with the best traditions of the United States, has been upholding.

Forcing the respect of the world and compelling the recognition of American rights, twice compelled to raise the mailed fist, the President has left no doubt that America, more

"Bull Moose" Asks Why Independent ents Should Support Him.

A correspondent signing himself 'Bull Moose,' writing to the Chicago Herald from Wheaton, Ill. asks some pertinent questions as to why the in dependent voter rhould cast his bal It for Hughes rather than Wilson:

Recently you published a strong editorial commending Rooseven of the G. O. P. convention because he has a program,' which, to your view, countermatched Wilson's record. Now the Republicans have nominated a high-grade candidate, without any program in particular, excepting the cry 'Itarmony' and the demand that he Democrats get out—'anything to beat Wilson.' One is reminded of the old Arkansas platform: Where as, We'uns are out and you'uns are
